

Benefits for Executives

Legal & Career Protection

Let's be honest, officers are using SMS texting and public messaging apps for work related communication. With Evertel you can avoid costly legal actions and protect your career by keeping your agency's communication compliant with federal (FOIA), state-level public information request laws, and CJIS requirements.

Complete control and insight into agency communication

Run full audits of the agency's communication through Evertel. Review usage reports to monitor compliance.

Meets all CJIS and FOIA requirements

Evertel was created specifically for your profession so being compliant is a priority. NO consumer or social apps are legal, compliant, or safe for police work.

Military-grade data security

Your agency's data is protected and secured through high-level data encryption within a secure, U.S. based, government-only cloud environment.

Protect your agency, your officers and your career

The often illegal use of public messaging apps by officers on the job is increasingly becoming a known issue. Not only are city managers and attorneys becoming aware, but activists groups as well, and they are targeting agencies who are not employing compliant solutions.

Crime Suppression

By immediately disseminating critical intel to those who need it most, Evertel customers solve crimes, locate missing persons, and arrest suspects faster, with less resources than they did prior.

Distribute intel and status updates immediately

Intelligence bulletins can be created from any device (even while in the field) and distributed on a need-to-know basis directly to each employee's phone. Found the wanted fugitive? Every employee can know within seconds.

Teams collaborate in real-time

Squads, investigative units, leadership and more can collaborate in a single space (rooms) in real-time from any location.

Regional collaboration & deconfliction

Work jointly with your neighboring agencies (police, fire, specialty) as well as city officials to coordinate and share intel.

Crisis Management

Clear up confusion, filtering of messaging and erroneous reporting in times of crisis.

Reduce unnecessary radio chatter

In times of crisis it's crucial that radio channels are left open for critical communication. With Evertel, all non-emergency communication can be moved to a Crisis room within Evertel — keeping the radio clear of unnecessary traffic.

Direct agency-wide communication

Keep your employees up-to-date during crisis events with blast communication directly from you to the entire agency before it makes the nightly news.

Regional collaboration & deconfliction

Coordinate and collaborate with regional agencies in a single location to ensure all are on the same page and in alignment.

Efficiency

Not only does Evertel streamline communication to keep your staff informed, productive and on the street – it also saves your agency time, money and resources.

Keep officers on the street

With Evertel's instant communication platform, no longer will officers need to wait for management or rely on emails and/or briefings to gain intel.

Decrease administrative and OT costs

No need to copy documents for distribution in briefing books. With one click everyone has what they need. Save OT on dispatchers when working low-risk events. Manage all assignments and updates through Evertel in real-time.

Much easier public information response

Save time on public information requests for your support staff with Evertel's audit feature. Within 3-5 minutes, you can pull all data needed to fulfill the request.

Requires little-to-no time from IT, always updated

Evertel does not require the installation of servers, or the integration of existing systems or bundled hardware. It is cloud-based and can be implemented in minutes. You get access to the latest versions of Evertel with no additional costs.

Administrative

Unlike email, Evertel messages are not scattered throughout your inbox or cluttered in between SPAM or junk-mail. Evertel ensures your messages are direct, targeted and seen.

Ensure full distribution of policy changes

Agency leaders can instantly share new policy, changes to protocol, and revised SOP's to all employees, explain the reasons for the change, and audit who viewed them.

Control rumors

Extinguish rumors immediately or prevent them in the first place through direct communication from agency leaders to all employees in agency-wide rooms.
